

STRUCT

Struct-IT.com is a Information Technology focused website allowing for the open collaboration and learning of IT Infrastructure or Practices! Bridging the gap between IT Professionals and those curious to its innerworkings.

Struct is a online platform in which users of various backgrounds and skillsets can culminate and learn from one another to further their knowledge of Information Technology concepts! We provide a platform that allows for questions to be easily asked or searched for by the user allowing for the "Open-Sourcing" of information usually found within the industry of IT. We provide a platform that feels welcoming to even the most novice of individuals and Struct is meant to be a professional location to serve the purpose of spreading skills and practices to those that are seeking it.

Personas

Vince, Age 30

Feeling confident in his current skills but wants to allow for others to prosper in the field as well

Eric, Age 24

Always interested in how technology could help him but doesn't know who to ask when questions are raised

Comps

